Town Meeting Stays On Trim Tax Rate Course

Operating on a course which could result in the tax rate remaining the same, or increasing by only a dollar, a handful of Andover voters Monday night approved municipal budget items totalling close to $13 million before adjourning the annual town meeting to next Monday.

Beginning with 11 voters over the quorum requirement of 350, at 7:30 p.m., the annual municipal business session managed to attract 509 voters at its peak during the three hour opening session. Highlights of the first session include:

 Dropping the school committee counsel and reducing the school budget accordingly by $5,000.

 Altering the fire department budget downward and instituting a program of civilian dispatchers.

 Retention of the mosquito control program over Finance Committee objections.

The meeting resumes this coming Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Audtiorium at East Junior High, with additional budget items due for consideration as the town moves toward operating costs totalling close to $17 million for the 1975-'76 fiscal year, plus:

 A special town meeting within the regular meeting, to deal with train service, Bicentennial funds and additional funds to pay past year expenses.

 55 warrant articles dealing with special money projects, adoption of new leash law regulations, establishing a bylaw dealing with public drinking, and setting of quorum requirements for regular and special town meetings, among others.

Major surprise of the opening session was the dropping of the school committee counsel, which was accomplished through the efforts of Dr. Richard A. Katz, a former school committee chairman.

Dr. Katz moved that the expense budget of the school department be cut by $5,000 and the specific line item dealing with counsel be removed.

He noted that there had been legal wranglings this past year involving the school committee and felt that it was now time for the committee to be involved in the direction of the schools and leave legal matters to town counsel where necessary.

Dr. Francis J. Griggs, school committee chairman, defended the action of the school committee asserting that the board was within the statute which provides for school committees to retain counsel in this state.

He also noted that the school counsel had been involved in not only suits brought during the year, but also reviewing policy which had been enacted in the past by ad hoc committees.

Later, Dr. Griggs suggested there was a competency level determination made by the school board members who decided to bypass town counsel and retain their own legal ad-

Voke School Budget Faces FinCom Battle

Andover's share of the regional vocational school budget faces a battle on the floor of town meeting this coming Monday night.

The Finance Committee will recommend a cut of $9,643 from the request for $158,507 and represents 6.4 per cent, or Andover's share of an overall recommended cut of $150,000 in the total Voke school budget.

FinCom Chairman John C. Doherty said that his group intended to battle for the cut in the budget, as it had a year ago. Last year the FinCom initially recommended cutting the Andover portion of the total budget, and later gave in to the total request.

This year, apparently things will be different and the FinCom will strongly urge the cut.

The FinCom, is recent years has been critical of regional boards and commissions and in its report this year, while granting that the regional vocational school does an excellent job has no statutory financially oriented authority advising or scrutinizing its budget.

School Board Seeks Return Of Counsel

A letter asking the board of selectmen to fund them $5,000 for special counsel was okayed by the school committee Tuesday night, a day after the Town Meeting had denied them such funds in their own budget.

Drafted by Chairman Frank Griggs and okayed by the entire committee, the letter suggests that the two boards meet jointly to seek a "mutually acceptable" attorney.

"To have the current Town Counsel represent the School Committee, based upon past performance," the letter says, "is of great concern" were substituted for "unacceptable" in the original draft, on request of Committeeman Elaine Viehmann. She and David Ahouse both indicated that they had no basis on which to question Town Counsel Al Daniels' past performance.

Fulbright Scholar Granted Leave

Mrs. Mary Kay Hervol, a primary level teacher at Bancroft School, was given the go ahead Tuesday night, to teach abroad next year, in a teacher exchange programs.

Mrs. Hervol is the first teacher in Andover schools to be selected to participate in the Fulbright-Hays Foreign Exchange Program, which is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

A teacher at Bancroft since 1971, she will be given a leave of absence with full salary, with the stipulation that she return to Andover schools for at least twice the length of her leave.

The school committee also indicated it would accept a teacher from the United Kingdom in exchange. That teacher's salary would also be paid by his or her own school system.

Upon request of School Committeeman Elaine Viehmann, the committee voted to send a letter of congratulations to Mrs. Hervol. Not only is her selection as a Fulbright Scholar an honor for herself, Mrs. Viehmann said, but for the town of Andover as well.

In other personnel action the committee passed with little ado on the re-elections, reappointments, and elections to tenure of the school staff for the coming year.

The committee, by law, must notify teachers this month if they are not going to be asked to return next fall. It was at a meeting just about a year ago, that the committee fired Assistant Superintendent Edward Regan, and demoted William Becker as English Department

Home Care Center Accepting Referrals

The Merrimack Valley Home Care Center has received approval from the Massachusetts Department of Elder Affairs to begin offering chore services to the elderly of the Greater Lawrence Area. The Home Care Center has signed a contract with the Greater Lawrence Community Action Council to provide the service. Secretary of Elder Affairs, Rose Claffey, approved the contract on Friday, March 21. The Home Care Center will begin accepting referrals for chore services this week.

Chore services are heavy household cleaning jobs, such as washing windows and floors. These services are part of the Home Care program which is designed to assist elderly people to remain in their own homes and communities.

The Home Care Center also provides homemaker service under contract with the Lawrence General Hospital, and helps to find suitable housing for senior citizens. By early May, the Center will be offering legal assistance in conjunction with Merrimack Valley Legal Services, Inc. In the near future, the Center will be expanding and developing service programs which will continue to promote the goal of helping the older person maintain himself at home.

A person must be at least 60 years old to qualify for Home Care service. More information about the program can be obtained by contacting the Merrimack Valley Home Care Center, 477 Essex St., Lawrence, or by calling 688-7747.

Refinery Committee To Organize

The "Citizens Advisory Committee on Oil Refinery Proposals" will hold its initial organizational meeting this Saturday morning, 10 a.m. at Dracut Town Hall, U.S. Rep. Paul Tsongas (D-Mass.) has announced.

The eleven member panel will determine their role in refinery development, elect a chairman, and decide the frequency and location of meetings. The Committee will be urged by Congresman Tsongas to immediately begin meeting on a regular basis. He will suggest that area officials appear before the Committee at their first formal session to discuss the sentiments of communities most affected by refinery development.

Tsongas said the decision to hold the organizational session in Dracut "is in recognition of the fact that the major input on any refinery proposal must come from the town of Dracut itself." Tsongas emphasized that the Advisory Committee's job would be "to inform the public about any refinery proposals." The Fifth District Democrat said that "although the overriding interest in a refinery has been in Dracut and Lowell, the communities of Lawrence, Andover, and Methuen will also be affected. The Advisory Committee will set up a mechanism for providing information to the citizens of all these communities and the officials who have an interest in refinery development."

Committee members are, from Dracut, Selectman Roger Daigle, Selectman Charles Dehney, and Industrial Committee Chairman Thomas Salem; from Methuen, Town Councilor William Toomey, and League of Women Voters Energy Advisor Caroline Gettings; from Andover, Town Manager J. Maynard Austin; from Tewksbury, LTI Refinery Study Commission member Dr. Joseph Lipschitz; from Lawrence, Economic Development Industrial Commission member James Coffey; and from Lowell, Arthur D. Little consultant Richard Williams, City Councilor Victor Forsley, and one more representative to be appointed by the Lowell City Manager.

To Address Club

Lynn Wachtel, account executive and assistant to the president of Newsome and Company, Inc., Boston's oldest and largest public relations firm, will be the speaker at the April 9 meeting of the Andover Service Club, at the Shawsheen Manor.

As public relations counsel to Kaufman and Broad Homes of Wellesley, Miss Wachtel will address the group on problems currently facing the public and the housing industry. Her remarks, based on extensive involvement with Kaufman and Broad's building programs in New England will be on the effects of inflation on home builders and the prospective homeowner.

Screening Her 'E's'

Theresa Dolan goes through a preschool vision screening program being given through the efforts of the members of the Andona Society. Assisting in the program here are Mrs. Francis J. Witt and Mrs. E.N. Barrett.

Vision Screening Underway

Tuesday and Wednesday, April 8 and 9, from 1 to 4 p.m. each day, the Andona Society will conduct its annual free pre-school vision screening at Christ Church, Central Street. The program is jointly sponsored by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the Andover Board of Health.

Mrs. E. Norman Barrett will direct the program, assisted by Mrs. Ross Coon, Mrs. Michael Rodden and Mrs. Robert Eastman and a group of Andona members, all of whom have been trained by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Amblyopia, sometimes called "lazy eye," is a condition of reduced or dim vision in an eye which appears to be normal. Left undetected it often causes blindness. However it can be corrected if discovered early enough.

Ideally, every child should be screened before his fifth birthday. The sooner a child with this condition receives proper treatment the better are his chances of regaining normal vision. If a child's performance during the screening indicates that a vision problem may exist, the parents will be advised to arrange a professional eye examination.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness suggests that it would be helpful if parents could teach their children the "E-game" before attending the screening. This may be done easily by using a large capital "E" and showing him how to point with his hands the way it points - up, down, left and right.

It is hoped that every preschool child in Andover will be able to attend a screening session.

C.A.R. Meets

The Samuel Osgood Chapter of the Children of the American Revolution will hold their April meeting on Sunday April 6 at the home of Col. and Mrs. Edward M. Harris, 311 S. Main St., Andover.

Revaluation Recommended To Conform To Court Order

Andover may face another revaluation and equalization program in 1976 with implementation of a 100 per cent full, fair cash value of property to take place in 1978.

This is the response given to the state Director of Corporation and Taxation this week by Andover assessors, in compliance with a court order which has ruled all towns in the Commonwealth must assess at 100 per cent.

Assessors throughout the Commonwealth had to inform the state tax commissioner by April 1 on what plans are being made to conform to the court order of last fall, known popularly as "The Sudbury Decision."

The state commissioner must inform the court by July 1 on the plans of the town and cities to conform to the order, which dictates that assessors must use, "an equalized valuation which shall be the fair cash value of all property."

Assessor William H. Russell reported that the Andover board has informed the selectmen, town manager and Finance committee, that it intends to submit an article to the 1975 town meeting seeking funds for a review and updating of the town's assessor's records.

The new equalization and revaluation program, which would cost $150,000 - $160,000, according to current estimates, would be more sophisticated than ones done in 1958 and 1967, Russell said.

It would mean gathering more data on individual homes, further study of various areas of the town to determine values. Such a process would permit maintenamce of values throughout the town.

Factors which will enter into the establishment of value of property, will include sales of homes in particular areas of town, and costs of various types of homes.

Russell said that the implementation of the program, would be Jan. 1, 1978, and has so informed the state tax commissioner.

This date has been arrived at through talks between Andover assessors and revaluation firms, along with data processing people. Based on best information, it does not seem feasible to anticipate tha. the work required for the new and sophisticated revaluation and establishment of proper data and records could be accomplished before 1978.

As for cost of the program, the $150,000 to $160,000 figure is only an estimate at this time.

All towns and cities in the Commonwealth are faced with the same problem, due to the court order. Re-evaluation firms and data processing companies will be in demand in the months and years ahead, thus a serious problem of availability, will more or less dictate the cost factor.

The new revaluation, in some ways, accelerates the general planning of the assessors. When revaluation was accomplished in 1958, the town had decided to update the records every ten years.

Another revaluation was done in 1967, and a further update would be taking place within a few years anyway, if the plan was followed.

The Sudbury Decision simply pushes the work forward and also adds some new factors for properly maintaining equalized records for the town.

Andover High Honor Society Inducts 65

The induction of sixty-five new members into the Andover Chapter of the National Honor Society took place Wednesday evening, April 2, at the West Elementary School Auditorium.

According to the National Honor Society sponsor, Miss Louise Hayes, the new senior members have maintained an average of 85 per cent or higher; the junior members an average of 90 per cent or higher. Additionally, the new members have met high standards in leadership, service and character.

The new members, their parents, faculty members, and invited guests were welcomed by Andrea Atwood, co-chairman of the National Honor Society. Jennie Young, chairman of the evening's events, keynoted the theme of the ceremony - - Perserverance - - in a brief address.

Participants in the traditional candlelight ceremony included Jeanie Cummings, David Hempstead, Laura Lindsey, Susan Romano and Lora Schofield. Meryl Halbach extended her congratulations to the new members poetically; the Madrigal Singers, directed by Keith Gould, entertained with several selections.

The highlight of the ceremony was an address by Charles Q. Adams, a former assistant principal of Andover High School.

After receiving their pins and certificates, the new members were welcomed into the Society by co-chairman Laura Lindsey.

Following the ceremony, there was a coffee hour and reception in the cafeteria.

The new members follow:

Voters Stay On Course

visor.

William VanN. Washburn, appointive member of the school committee from November through March, commentedj that he could see no need for special counsel and felt that town counsel could certainly handle any legal work for the board.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen, said that his board would not vote on the matter at the town meeting session, but added that it was the desire of the board to discuss the issue at joint meetings with the school board during the year.

Despite an appeal by Dr. Griggs for retention of the counsel item in the budget, the voters rejected it overwhelmingly.

Civilian Dispatchers

The fire department personnel budget was reduced from the town manager's original request of $867,145, to the FinCom suggested $858,366.

The reduction followed comments by Atty. Robert S. Zollner of the FinCom who stated that use of civilian dispatchers in the fire service were suggested and accepted by the fire department. This would free professional, trained firefighters for regular duty.

Also, the use of civilian personnel is expected to reduce overtime due to vacations or sick leave, which has resulted in calling off-duty men to fill in positions.

The suggestion was adopted.

Seniors Suggest Graduation Speaker

Andover High seniors apparently have hopes of continuing a "tradition" of one-year, and electing their own graduation speaker.

Senior class advisor Bob King told the school committee Tuesday night that the youths take graduation preparations "very personally . . . like a girl planning her own wedding."

He said they have nominated four persons - - -former Assistant Principal Gerald Silverman, Senator Ted Kennedy, former English teacher John Boyle, and "an inocuous teacher" - - for final selection by the senior class. The teacher turned out to be King himself, who teaches chemistry and science in addition to his advisor duties.

Last year's seniors elected to hear William Becker, recently demoted by the school committee as English department head. In the past, the chairman of the school committee had always given remarks, and School Committeeman John Lyons objected Tuesday night that in Frank Griggs' two years in the chair, "he has been outrightly denied that choice" of speaking at graduation.

Griggs said that the first year it had been his choice to forego the opportunity, because he went out of town.

King said that because the youngsters had chosen Becker last year, they listened to him, and his remarks were appropriate.

This year's nominations were made by a wide open ballot, King said, with the seniors suggesting "every conceivable kind of creature, animate and inanimate."

The question of the final election now will be taken up in a joint meeting of students, administrators and Lyons as the school committee's representative.

While defending student selection of a speaker, King indicated that he would have to be classified as a "conservative," who yearns for the type of nostalgia represented by semi-formal dances, where the boys wear jackets and the girls, long gowns. By Linda S. Corbett

Mosquito Relief

An $18,000 difference of opinion on the value of the mosquito control project, in operation the past two years, resulted in a loss to the Finance Committee and Selectman Alan F. French.

The FinCom had suggested the program be dropped and French, issuing a minority report, said there was no evidence that the program was doing any good for the money being spent.

French noted that he was speaking from a point of fiscal responsibility, and not from a conservationist view.

The discussion, which produced some of the lighter moments of the meeting, included comments by Chairman Greenberg, who spoke of mosquito aerodynamics and Selectman Janet M. Lake who noted that she spoke not as an expert on mosquitoes but on bites by the insect, obviously favored retention of the program.

William L. Lane said that his area of town, West Andover, had experienced relief since the program was started, and other speakers commented that they were able to use their yards during the evening hours since the spraying had begun.

A hand vote retained the program 289-130.

Only other major conflict between the FinCom and selectmen came on the highway department budget where FinCom recommended a $41,000 reduction in the hot topping program.

Public Works Director Robert McQuade expressed the need to hot top Main street, which is an expensive, yet necessary project. Putting it off would only compound problems and make it more expensive another year, McQuade said, and the town supported his contention and granted the $41,000.

Karl Haartz, asked several questions on new items in the budget, such as institution of a data processing center for modernizing the town's accounting procedures.

Haartz, a perennial town meeting observer and commentator, apparently received satisfactory responses from the administrators as all items passed without difficulty.

Chairman Greenberg opened the meeting with comments reflecting the work of his board and the town manager in bringing to the town what he termed an "austere program and deflationary budget."

Greenberg said that among the problems the selectmen had to contend with in budget preparation were "increasing infringement by regional and county government on local operations, a Commonwealth which is broke and general town menagement practices which need some refinement."

Committee

The letter also indicated that the committee intended to continue with Counsel James Murphy for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

Reacting to Town Meeting's cutting the funds for counsel next year, Murphy earlier said, "Replace me any time you want."

He said he had made it very clear when he came into the job, at some $400 a month, that he did not seek tenure in the position.

"There are many capable lawyers in the town of Andover," he said, "and you have

How to counterattack inflation.

Like everyone else these days, Karen Keating, a secretary at Andover Bank, figured the only way to look smart was to shop smart. And wait till what she wants is at the sale counter.

And every time Karen snatches up a really great bargain, she puts the money she saves right into her regular savings account at Andover Bank. Where it earns 5¼% interest.

If you're like Karen and know a good buy when you see it, put your money in a savings account that gives you the highest interest the law allows. Just ask Karen how her savings account helps her beat inflation. Or better still, ask her about those nifty ski boots she just picked up for a song!

Making It Like New

Students at Andover High school are busily repairing major appliances to be auctioned at the annual Andover Recycling Auction scheduled for May 3 at Recreation Park. Here, getting a washing machine in working order are Doug Walsh and Alan Hoyt, under the direction of Norman Linson, instructor.

Students Prepare Items For Auction

Major appliances will play a big part in the Andover Recycling Auction May 3, thanks to a group of Andover High students who are taking old ones apart and putting them back together again in useable condition.

The items, from TV consoles to vacuum cleaners, are being donated by residents, by calling John Lewis at the Veteran's Office, Town Hall. Then they end up in the AHS "shops".

Under the direction of industrial arts department head Edwin Hawkes, his electronics class boys have been working on television sets and radios. One recent donation was an old-but-repairable TV-radio-sterio console.

In addition, Norman Linson, in his household appliance and electronics classes, is supervising the repair of such major items as washing machines, dryers and dishwashers.

There are some appliances that little can be done with Hawkes said this week. However, the classes will take most anything apart and if they can't fix it, save the parts.

While these appliances are integrated into the courses all during the year, Hawkes says, they're concentrating now on getting things ready for the auction, which will be held at the Recreation Park, sponsored by the Andover Recycling Committee.

Proceeds will go back to the town, to help defray the cost of the recyclable pickup program, and, conceivably, lower taxes.

Hawkes said the boys have become so interested in the projects, that many come down during their free periods to work on the donated items.

Spelling Champs Crowned

Recently the two eighth grade teams at East Junior High School challenged each other to a spelling competition.

The words used in the competition were taken from the grade eight sequential spelling program currently in use at East. All of the participating students had previously studied the 300 words in English class.

Miss Ellen Goldman coached the eight semi-finalists from team A: Joel Bragen, Jane Cameron, Maureen Connolly, Pat Davey, Claire Gilliatt, Paul Hempstead, Bob Milne and Tony Sanchez. Miss Karen Burke coached the eight semi-finalists from Team B: Beth Alexander, Jim Arnold, Jamie Dufresne, Lory MacDonald, Liz McGoff, Elise Pyun, and Brian Staid.

Claire Gilliatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilliatt, Tobey Lane, was the winner of the competition and received a gift and letter of commendation from Dr. Richard McGrail, principal. Dr. McGrail also awarded record albums to the Team A first place runner up, Jane Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cameron, Holt Road, and to the Team B first place runner up, Brian Staid, son of Mrs. Corinne Staid.

League Supports Articles

The League of Women Voters will support nine articles on the March Town Meeting Warrant. The League will also prepare and distribute an information sheet on two other articles.

According to Sue Tucker, league president, the decision to support or oppose is made by the league on only those articles which deal with topics the League has previously studied.

The League will issue an information sheet on Article six of the special town meeting warrant and Article 36, both of which deal with the MBTA rail service. The League strongly supports public transportation, but the members would urge increased service and state takeover of the costs.

Those articles which the Leaguesupports are:

Article 38 - Pomps Pond Bathhouse. The League has a long-standing position favoring the development of public recreational facilities. The bathhouse is a necessity for continued public use of Pomps Pond. While state reimbursement is greatly desired, the League membership feels that the bathhouse should be constructed for the summer of 1976 even if this cannot be obtained.

Article 18 - the League supports the transfer from available funds of those monies reimbursed by the state for property purchased by the Conservation Commission.

Articles 19, 20, 31, 32, 33, 52, and 53 - authorizing land purchases by the Conservation Commission. The League supports an active open-space land acquisition program. Most of these proposed purchases would enlarge and improve the existing trail and greenway systems in town.

Youthful Inquiry

A youngster examines a woodchuck's home as part of a special outdoor program for pre-school children in the Andover area which is being planned by Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary in the town of Andover this spring. Fours And Fives is a series of six one-hour sessions of discovery and nature activities for young children and their mothers or a favorite adult. Each week will bring a different subject to investigate. It may be anything from pine cones to pond life, presented on the children's level, but the mothers will learn a lot, too. The course, which begins on Thursday morning, April 17, is limited to eight children and prior registration is required. For further information, contact Mrs. Joanne Dahlgren in Andover, or the Sanctuary office.

Auction To Benefit Nursery

Giving An Assist

Mrs. Vena Coco, a volunteer at the Christ Church Professional Nursery for the Handicapped, assists one of the youngsters in negotiating one of the toy trucks. The school, started in 1973, will conduct a Country Auction later this month, to assist in providing funds for continuing the program.

The rooms are sunlit and colorful. Entering one you see a small girl sitting peacefully on the carpeted floor pouring white sand from one container to another. Nearby a child on his back stares at the colored objects in the room while a woman beside him helps to exercise his arms and legs. One of the things he sees is a large beach ball that he may someday stretch his arms around and roll. In another room the fists of a toddler begin to unfold in a tray of warm soapy water. This is the room in which small muscles are being developed, where children learn to experiment with sand, water, paint and food. Expressions of art in the form of paper collages, sponge paintings and line drawings are visible, the names of the artists carefully and proudly displayed.

Most of the children can be found in the largest room playing with toys designed to improve their larger muscles, toys to jump on, creep into, handle and explore. At all times there are adults closeby to supervise and assist the children should they need help. In one room, each child receives individualized instruction in language and number concepts through the use of modern teaching materials and the careful approach of an understanding teacher.

These scenes are all a part of the Christ Church Professional Nursery for the Handicapped located in the Educational Building adjoining the church on Central Street in Andover. Begun in the fall of 1973 by Cynthia Stocking and Veryl Anderson, both registered nurses, the staff has been expanded to include special education teachers, teacher-aides, a Health Coordinator who is also a registered nurse and volunteers who come in to help on a rotating basis.

The children enrolled in the nursery range in age from 13 months to five years and come from Andover, Lawrence, Tewksbury, Peabody and many other towns. To the students and the parents, the rewards gained are often incalculable. Some of the children may make enough progress to be able to enter a local public elementary school in the towns where they live.

As one would imagine, the cost of running such a nursery is great. Although various state agencies pay for full or partial tuition for certain students, the costs are mostly defrayed through contributions made by charitable organizations and private individuals. Since the staff is hoping to expand its program to run a full calendar year instead of the regular school year in which it now operates, there will be an even greater need for funds. On April 26, a group of women interested in the future of the school, has arranged to hold a country auction. Anyone interested in contributing saleable items such as antiques, attic treasures, furniture, books, paintings, or sporting goods may contact Mrs. Peter Moskos, 7 High Plain Rd., Andover. The names of contributing merchants will be read at auction time.

Entries in the National Chicken Cooking Contest must be postmarked by April 1. Send your recipe to 614 Madison Building, 1155 15th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005, with your name, address, birth date and phone number on the front page.

Junior Garden Club To Meet

Mrs. Ralph Preble, former president of the Andover Garden Club, will give a wildflower presentation with slides.

Theater Adaptation Opens Library Week

Be sure to be at the Memorial Hall Library at 8 p.m. on April 16 for the exciting kick-off of "Women Seen." The Friends of the Library are proud to present on the opening night of the happening Annette Miller and Naomi Thornton in a theatrical collage entitled, "Who's a Lady."

The performance is an original adaptation by Ms. Miller dealing with modern woman's quest for identity. In the show pieces of contemporary literature, drama, songs, poems, and rock, including works by J.D. Salinger, Jules Feiffer, Judith Viorst, Berthold Brecht, and Tennessee Williams have been fused into a single dramatic theatrical unit with sensitivity and humor. The props include nothing more than a rug, two chairs and a piano.

The production has been presented for T.V. audiences as well as numerous university groups, women's organizations and social benefits and always evokes enthusiastic response from its viewers.

The show promises to serve as a delightful and stimulating opener for the program to follow during the next two days when area women representing various lifestyles, occupations and avocations will share their thoughts and talents through discussions, demonstrations, exhibits and film. The event is being held in celebration of 1975 International Women's Year and National Library Week.

Armenian Ladies Society To Observe Anniversary

In the year 1910 the Armenian Relief Society was founded to serve its people in much the same way the American Red Cross serves humanity. Today, the A.R.S. is the largest and oldest Armenian women's philanthropic organization internationally and takes pride in its many achievements especially in the educational and cultural stimulation in the lives of its people. Many accredited day schools are being largely supported here and in Canada by the A.R.S.

To celebrate its 65th birthday, the local ARAXE Chapter will sponsor a unique program on Sunday, April 6, 1975 at the parish hall of Saint Gregory Armenian Apostolic Church in North Andover. After a typical Armenian luncheon starting at 1 p.m., a program of authentic Armenian songs and instrumentals will be presented by Mrs. Aram Keleshian, Juliette and Sarkis Zerounian who are this country's best interpreters of the famous Armenian troubadour, Sayat Nova, and Misses Judy Norsigian on cello with Jane Meyers on piano for several selections in duo form. The Saint Gregory Arminian Language School students will present songs and poems to please their parents and grandparents.

A candlelighting ceremony will follow a short speech by a Central Executive member from Boston.

A continuous film program will be offered parents with young children in the downstairs classrooms, and general ethnic dancing will follow the program time permitting.

Tickets may be obtained by calling program chairlady Mrs. Vartkes Sohigian, 85 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover.

Passage of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 marked a significant breakthrough in helping women workers, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

W. Parish Continues Domination

By Rick Harrison

West Parish A continued its lengthy domination of the Intermediate Division in the Andover Church Basketball League, edging St. Robert's C by a 20-16 score in their bruising, defensive title showdown at East Junior High last Friday night.

The victory clinched an unprecedented fifth straight divisional championship for West A, which has also won the crown six of the past seven years and seven times in 10 seasons.

The champs thus closed out another undefeated campaign with a perfect 17-0 record, while previously - unbeaten St. Robert's C had to settle for the runner-up spot at 16-1.

West A will now head into next season with a 28-game ACBL win streak, and the team has captured 52 of its last 53 league starts.

Even Start

St. Robert's C, the division's highest scoring team with a 33.9 per game average, took a quick 2-0 lead when divisional scoring champ John McNamara (253 points) swished a pair of free throws.

However, moments later Bob Meier of West A returned the favor and it was 2-2.

The teams then traded buckets for a 6-6 standoff at the end of the quarter. Todd Zimmerman and McNamara struck for St. Robert's, while Steve Doherty netted two hoops including one just before the horn.

St. Robert's broke ahead 11-8 at halftime, thanks to a 25-foot set shot by Zimmerman, a charity toss from McNamara and a basket by Jamie Lebowitz. Glen Johnson canned a 15-foot shot for the only West A answering fire.

Press Works

West A then switched to a full-court, man-to-man press which resulted in a 9-3 third quarter point spread and a 17-14 bulge after 18 minutes of play.

Chris Doherty popped in 4 points, Steve Doherty 3 and Bob Meier had a bucket for the champs. McNamara countered with 3 for St. Robert's.

The final period was extremely physical. Both teams had numerous shots roll off the rim, and the jockeying for rebound position was rough-and-tumble with several fouls called on each club.

St. Robert's center Ira Gold banked home a field goal early in the quarter to cut the difference to 17-16, and that's how it stood entering the final minute as each team failed to cash in on four free throw attempts.

With 51 seconds to play, Chris Doherty sunk the front end of a 1-and-1 foul shooting situation to make it 18-16, and with less than 20 seconds to go Steve Doherty hit both ends of a 1-and-1 in the clutch for the final score of 20-16.

Steve Doherty finished as game-high scorer with 9 points, while Chris Doherty pocketed 5, Bob Meier 4 and Glen Johnson 2 for West A.

Meier did an outstanding job on McNamara man-to-man, holding the prolific marksman to just two field goals and 8 total points which is well below his average of 15 per game. Todd Zimmerman closed with 4 points, while Ira Gold and Jamie Lebowitz had 2 apiece.

Other standout members of the champions are Bruce Belbin, Mike McDonald, Dan Kimball, Scott Harnden, Andy Johnson and Hugh Meier. The team is coached by Rick Harrison.

Completing the roster of the St. Robert's C crew are Richie Griffin, Gonsalo Cabral, Mike Damphousse, MacLean and Bob Santos. The squad is coached by Neil Zimmerman.

Tuesday's Action

The Intermediate Division wrapped up its season for all other teams one week ago Tuesday night at East, with the following results:

West A Rallies

West A ran headlong into a hustling, pressing St. Robert's A crew determined to end the club's lengthy winning streak.

St. Robert's grabbed a quick 4-0 lead and clung to a 10-8 advantage at halftime. However, Steve and Chris Doherty flipped in 6 points each during the third quarter as West A untracked its offense and took the lead for good enroute to a 34-24 victory.

Steve Doherty cracked double figures for the third straight game, pumping through 12 points to guide the winners to their 27th consecutive win and 51st in 52 ACBL starts.

Chris Doherty was next in line with 8 points, Bruce Belbin netted 6, Bob Meier 4 and Glen Johnson 4 points.

Other West A standouts included Mike McDonald, Dan Kimball, Andy Johnson, Scott Harnden and Hugh Meier.

St. Robert's A received another strong performance from center Steve Lietch with 12 points. Danny Saunders pocketed 6, Paul Tassanari a brace of easy buckets in the second quarter, and Dick Danner bagged 2 points. Craig Lebowitz and John Hannon were defensive sparkplugs.

McNamara Hits 14

Three players did all the damage for St. Robert's C, as that club broke open a competitive contest with six straight third period points to sink St. Augustine A, 26-10.

John McNamara poured through 14 markers, Todd Zimmerman canned one basket each period for 8 points, and Ira Gold had 4 tallies. Other C-team stalwarts were Bob Santos, Mike Damphousse and Jamie Lebowitz.

Fred Foote tossed in 4 points to power St. Augustine A, while single floor shots were delivered by Dave Gusmini, Tom Fox and Tim Bolduc.

Turning in excellent all-around efforts in a losing cause were Steve Smith, Jerry Fox, Jeff Fleming and Pat Paris.

Finishing 15-2

St. Augustine G, winner of the first 14 games on its schedule, closed out a fine 15-2 season in third place following a 28-15 triumph over the Christ Church Crusaders.

Ted and Dick Kelley combined for eight first quarter points, as the G-squad raced to an 8-0 advantage and coasted home from there.

Ted Kelley completed the contest with a game-high 13 points, while brother Dick bagged 8 and Mike Yuska scooped in 7 more.

Mike Curley, Tim Corkery and Paul Marad were other leaders.

Ken Taylor countered with 6 points for the Crusaders, and lending fine support were Mark Rogers with 5, Dave Menard 2 and Mark Frost a last period basket.

Also contributing fine floor games for the Crusaders, who had won three of their four previous starts, were Jim Anderson, Mark Mitchell, Todd Lockwood and Cris Connors.

Strong Fourth Quarter

St. Augustine F, trailing 10-8 entering the final period, erupted for 10 points behind the eagle-eye gunning of Tom Haskard and Jack Horan to shade tough-luck West Parish B, 18-14.

It marked the ninth time this season that West B has lost by four or fewer points.

Haskard and Horan were the primary 1-2 punch with 8 points each, while Dave Barker canned a second period bucket and other F-team leaders were Joe Zemis, Dave Carignan, Jack Kramer and Steve Farrington.

Topping the closing West Parish B points parade were Tim Plass with 6 points, Steve Johnson 3, Mark Newton 2, Scott Nolin 2 points and Scott Belbin a second stanza charity toss.

Also excelling for the losers were Jeff Saulnier, Alex deConstant, Jim Kimball, Paul Newton and Chris Saulnier.

Minor Upset

After suffering three successive close defeats, St.

Babe Ruth Tryouts To Begin

The Andover Babe Ruth baseball team will hold tryouts for its 1975 team on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 19 and 20, at the large Playstead Field behind East Junior High.

Both sessions will begin at 1 p.m. and run until approximately 3:30.

The Saturday workout will be for 13-year-old candidates only, while the Sunday session will be for 14 and 15-year-old players.

A third tryout may be necessary, and if so it will be held at a time and day to be designated later.

The team is open to all boys between the ages of 13-15, who will not reach their 16th birthday prior to August 1, 1975.

Any boy going away that vacation weekend and still wishing to try out should inform either Manager Rick Harrison (475-2007) or Coach Fred Serley (475-9122), at which time a special tryout session will be arranged.

Also, Babe Ruth League tryouts will not conflict in any way with Senior League tryouts to be held the weekend of April 26.

The local team operates under the principal that all positions are open prior to tryouts, and members from last year's squad must "make the team" again this season.

Andover is a member of the eight-team Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League, which plays a 21-game regular-season schedule with a mid-season break for competition in the International All-Star Tournament. There are also post-season playoffs for the first four teams.

Andover finished the regular season in second place last year, one game behind champion Methuen. The locals were 15-6-1 in league play and 19-8-1 overall, and Andover has failed to make the playoffs only once in the last 22 seasons.

Plans are in the works for possible team trips to both Montreal and Cooperstown, N.Y. this summer, although nothing definite has been arranged at this time.

Volleyball Winners

The preliminaries of the Recreation/Community Schools High School/Junior High School Volleyball Tournament found Foonman's, The Beefs, Hogans Heros and The Sinians advancing past a field of 9 teams to enter the quarter final matches. In a hotly contested semi-final game Foonman's edged past The Sinians 5-15, 15-13 and 13-11 earning the right to face The Beefs who trounced Hogan's Heros 15-5 and 15-2 in their semi-final match, Foonmans managed to eek out a close 13-11 victory in the first game and then spiked their way to a 15-7 win in the second game to win the match and the tournament.

The Recreation/Community Schools Department's 1975 Winter Program is drawing to a close and it is time for the annual Crafts Exhibit. The exhibit will be held on Thursday, April 10 in the West Junior High cafeteria. The public is invited to attend between 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. This event represents the culmination of the Fall and Winter sessions of the Recreation/Community Schools Enrichment Program. A wide variety of items from all classes whose projects lend themselves to exhibition, will be displayed. Both adult and youth classes will be included.

Among the new courses offered in the Fall and Winter programs there will be displays of Macrame, Chair Caning, Rush and Splint Weaving, Sculpture, Quilting, Canvas Work, Silk Screen, Oriental Rug Hooking and Cake Decorating. Other displays include Stained Glass, Woodworking, Upholstering, Pottery and Pine Cone Wreaths, to name just a few of the many classes whose projects will be exhibited.

The Crafts Exhibit provides an excellent opportunity for the community as well as family and friends of the students to learn more about the numerous and varied programs offered by the Recreation/Community Schools Department throughout the year.

W. Parish Posts Win Over Newton

The West Parish intermediate basketball team, tuning up for further playoff and tournament action in the near future, traveled to Newton last Saturday afternoon where it posted a 45-17 victory over the Newton Braves at the Xaverian Brothers gym.

The triumph lifted the West Parish fifth and sixth graders' complete record to 24-1, while the Newton squad finished first in its regular season but currently has dropped four straight games.

West put this game out of reach early, exploding for a 24-6 first quarter lead over the Newton Athletic Association team.

High-scoring guard Chris Doherty put on a sizzling shooting exhibition in the stanza, swishing 6-of-9 floor shots for 12 points.

Bob Heidt hit the strings on 3-of-4 attempts for 6 markers, while solo buckets were netted by Ted Kelley, Tom Beaumier and Tim Plass.

Amazingly enough, neither club scored a point in the second session, but in the third quarter West Parish extended its lead to 33-10 as Doherty flipped through 5 points and other buckets came from Todd Zimmerman and Dick Kelley.

The winners tossed in 12 points during the finale. Chris Doherty dumped through 4, Ted Kelley and Tim Plass stuffed single baskets, and hitting a pair of charity tosses each were Heidt and Zimmerman.

Chris Doherty outscored the entire Newton quintet by himself, pumping through a game-high 21 points to boost his overall yearly output to 405 points in 40 games.

Bob Heidt pushed in 8 markers while Ted Kelley, Tim Plass and Todd Zimmerman notched 4 each.

Contributing 2 points apiece were Tom Beaumier and Dick Kelley. Glen Johnson turned in an exceptional floor game prior to fouling out early in the fourth quarter.

Tim Plass added four blocked shots to his effort, and helped Ted Kelley and Tom Beaumier control the backboards.

For the game West Parish connected on 20-of-51 field goal attempts (40 per cent), and swished 5-of-6 free throws.

Schedule

West Parish is slated to battle St. Anne's of Lawrence for the Lawrence Jewish Community Center Biddy Basketball League playoff championship this week.

Trophy Presentations

Swim Winners Honored

After four hours of competition in the new six-lane swimming pool of the Andover-North Andover YMCA outstanding swimmers emerged in the Winter Term Members' Novice Swim Meet.

Conducted in ten age sex divisions a meet is conducted at the end of each program term for all Full Privilege Members, regardless of ability, and interest is maintained because the novice requirement eliminates forever each successive winner in each event.

Making the first place winners ineligible for further competition in each event encourages developing swimmers to continue their efforts and all swimmers are encouraged to participate regardless of ability. Outstanding swimmers received individual trophies and there were five place winners recognized in each of the sixty events scheduled.

In the division for girls 8 years and under Patty Fitzgerald was the Outstanding Swimmer with first places in the 25 yard freestyle, the 25 yard butterfly, the 25 yard backstroke and the 75 yard freestyle. Pay The Bill, Keep The Train

The issue of train service between Boston and Andover will be before the voters once again when town meeting reconvenes next Monday night.

It has been a source of controversy in Andover for many years and particularly the past several months after the October town meeting rejected, by four votes, continuing the once-a-day MBTA Buddliner.

Monday night voters will be asked to pay back bills due MBTA for train service, as well as approving continued commuter transportation for another year.

As for paying the back bills, we highly recommend the town pick up the tab for the whole amount and not saddle those contributors who pledged funds to keep the train going until the annual town meeting.

We also would recommend continued train service for another year, which happens to be a change in our thinking on the issue.

As for the back bill issue, the selectmen have separated the three periods for which the town owes funds. As of midweek, the selectmen were of the opinion that the Andover Rail Committee should pick up the cost for the period from Nov. 17 to April 7. The committee solicited and received pledges from daily commuters after the October town meeting to keep the train stopping here until an annual town meeting vote could be taken.

They were told at the time that their money would be placed in an escrow account until the decision was reached by Andover voters, then if the town voted to continue the service, the money would be returned.

We feel strongly that those people who pledged financial support should have their money returned to them and the town pick up the entire cost of train service.

The selectmen would appear to be quibbling about what amounts to barely two cents of the tax rate when they exclude this approximately $6,000 from the total $20,000 bill for the 18 month period, Jan. 1, 1974 to June 31, 1975.

Those who pledged, gambled to retain train service to the area and should not be financially penalized for their effort.

Making them pay the bill on their own for that "gray" period, seems like pretty small potatoes, as they say.

As for the continuance of the service, our change in thought is based primarily on the efforts made by those who pledged the funds last November.

They have convinced us to a certain degree since last November that this form of transportation can operate compatibly with the daily and more frequent bus service to Boston.

As energy problems continue and regulations by the federal government concerning travel to major cities such as Boston continue to be imposed, it seems imperative that all alternate means of travel be kept in operation.

We feel it imperative that the MBTA institute some effective managements procedures in the months ahead, and, as we have mentioned previously, we have been impressed in this regard with the work of David Gunn, head of the commuter rail service division.

And, if some of our neighbors climb aboard the train which we are subsidizing, that's not so bad either. We are living in a time of community interdependence. We in this area, are as dependent on Boston's well being as they are of us.

Affording adequate means of transport without plugging up the core city is advisable, and thus we recommend continued train service as it now exists between Andover and Boston.

Is Town Meeting Representative?

As Andover's annual town meeting heads into its second session next Monday night, it seems reasonable to ask if this so-called bulwark of democracy really is an effective means of operation for modern day municipal business?

This past Monday night, at the opening session, the meeting was able to get underway when 361 voters, 11 more than a quorum, were on hand for the 7:30 p.m. opening.

At the height of the meeting, a total of 509 voters were recorded.

Such a turnout seems unfair to those administrators and financial advisors who have spent countless hours in examining budget requests and paring same to keep the tax rate at either a nominal increase or the same as a year ago.

Next Monday the budget consideration should be completed and the major portion of the town's expenses outlined, before an attendance which more than likely will be greater than those who have deliberated over about $18 million.

Reason for higher attendance next week, will be such items as continued train service, leashing of dogs, and other odd and sundry special interest items.

There, then, is the question of whether town meeting is really representative of the thinking of the community as a whole, or does it serve only those of specific concerns.

Town meeting does not lack for the opportunity to voice an opinion or even change a budget, as evidenced last Monday night when Dr. Richard A. Katz won support of his proposal to drop special counsel from the school committee budget.

There is an effort this year to remove the quorum requirement from town meeting, which would, of course, be a most dangerous move.

There is also the annual appeal by Selectman Milton Greenberg to increase the size of the quorum necessary to transact business at a town meeting.

While Mr. Greenberg has enjoyed some increase in voter popularity with the passing of the years and his annual suggestion, we doubt that this will succeed this year.

Advocates of town meeting in its present form in Andover will insist that the meeting remain as is and be open to all, even if only self-serving interest groups are all that attend.

We continue to wonder, however, particularly after the poor turnout to approve over $17 million in local taxpayers' funds, if the system is truly the purest form of democracy it was when the farmers came into town to vote, transact the town's business and have a bean supper on a Saturday night many years ago.

Just a little thought for this bicentennial year.

Off The Top Of The Desk

Knitting has always been an integral part of Andover's annual town meeting and it appears to be taking on more import.

Monday night among the opening announcements made by Moderator William Dalton, was the availability of a number ten knitting needle in one corner of the Memorial Auditorium.

During the process of the session, a lady in the balcony, who had stood to cast a vote, lost a ball of yarn which unwound to the main floor.

An obliging voter tossed it back up in time to save a stitch, we presume.

Hopefully, the weather of the past week or so, is winter's last gasp.

After some pleasant late March days, high winds and cold have dispelled thoughts of spring.

Crocus, pussy willows and tulips springing forth from the earth give salient signs that spring is here and the more pleasant weather must be just around the corner.

Sports fans must be prepared to hear that major league teams leave their worst in spring training.

This is in anticipation of the Red Sox opening the season next Tuesday after posting the worst record in the Grapefruit league this spring.

The New England Aquarium will "officially commission" its floating mammal theatre, Discovery, on Monday, April 7, in ceremonies which are open to the public.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

On behalf of the FAST Committee at Andover West Junior High I would like to thank all of the people who helped make FAST Week a huge success.

The fund raising activities would not have taken place without the total cooperation of Richard Barron and his cafeteria staff. Our empty plate program raised $165 for famine relief. The rice and water meal brought in an additional $150. The rice, which was cooked by the cafeteria staff, was donated by DeMoulas Super Market and Stop and Shop.

A special thanks is extended to the elementary schools for their enthusiastic endorsement and cooperation in allowing the program to be extended there. The elementary students raised in excess of $200 and nearly 200 cans of food.

In my thirteen years of teaching, I have not seen such an overwhelming response to a human need. The immediate impact on the lives of the people involved, in this fund raising, may not be fully realized for a period of time, but the effects have to be positive.

In this year when we begin the celebration of the Republic's 200th birthday, we do not have to look backward for the nation's "Golden Years." Today, our young people indicate to us the best years are still ahead.

FAST Week shows what is good about Andover's Schools and its students.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

As a retired person who will strive for as long as he can to help pay for the legitimate expenses of Andover through the propoerty tax, may I protest against the discriminatory proposal that those who do not take the train to Boston shall help pay for those who do. If a similar proposal were made to support only one of the Andover churches financially, or to grant special monetary favors to one race and not to another, the town counsel would rightly rule such action as unconstitutional. Unfortunately, it is not explicitly unconstitutional to grant sepcial favors to those who go by train to Boston at the expense, in part, of those who do not; but it is against the spirit both of the federal and of the state constitution. For both documents imply that the laws shall be equally applied to all and shall discriminate against none.

The discrimination is compounded by the fact that many retired people, as well as the unemployed looking for work, pay taxes at very high rates in relation to their incomes as compared to most of those who work in Boston. And yet the retired people and the unemployed receive no benefit from the proposed subsidy to the railroad. This is tax regression at its worst.

I am in favor of encouraging mass transportation, but the proposed articles are not the way to do it.

Book Review

Presenting Raytheon History

Community Affairs Director of Raytheon's West Andover Plant, Vincent Foley of Lawrence (center) presents Merrimack College with a copy of "The Creative Ordeal: The Story of Raytheon" by Otto J. Scott. Accepting the book for Merrimack's McQuade Library are Merrimack College President, Very Rev. John R. Aherne, O.,S.A. (left) and Engineering Dept. Chairman, Dr. Francis E. Griggs, Jr. of Andover (right).

"The Creative Ordeal: The Story of Raytheon"

by Otto J. Scott. New York, Atheneum, 1974

Company histories are rarely recommended to the general reader, but when the company is Raytheon and the book is written in a lively and timely style we can hold out this book as an exception to the rule. Otto Scott has brought to life in a remarkable way the fifty year history of the corporation that today has the largest number of employees in New England and whose sales last year topped $1.6 billion.

Raytheon's road to success was a rocky one in the early days. Originally a consumer oriented firm dealing primarily in the manufacture of radio tubes, it had to fight such industry giants as RCA, Westinghouse and General Electric to make its own mark felt. In the late 1930's as World War II approached, the company became more and more involved with radar, military hardware and the like, and for many years thereafter became increasingly dependent on government contracts. Eventually a more diverse mix resulted in Raytheon's now being all things to all people, both in terms of consumer and military products.

Scott has tried to place Raytheon's history in proper perspective with the great events of this century; at times he succeeds but on occasions he gives the reviewer the feeling that the entire world revolves around Lexington, Massachusetts, the company's headquarters. In the course of this history there are fascinating glimpses of some highly unusual people such as Harold Geneen, the ITT live wire and prime mover who was a Raytheon executive for some years, of distinguished Bostonians such as Charles Francis Adams and Roger Damon, of Royden C. Sanders who later founded Sanders Associates and of the present president, Thomas L. Phillips.

In this book Mr. Scott avoids very neatly the pitfalls of the slavish company chronicler by presenting both the good and bad sides of the Raytheon story. And The Creative Ordeal does capture a great deal of the flavor of the Route 128 complex with its surrounding towns where so many engineers and scientists live. Raytheon's dependence on the brainpower of the universities of Boston and Cambridge for research and manpower is graphically shown. Because of this the book's main appeal will be in this geographical area, but as a study of a vital national corporation, its readership may well transcend these boundaries.

Scholarship Offered

The Andover-Georgetown branch of the American Association of University Women is offering a $100 scholarship to a woman over the age of 25 living in the Merrimack Valley area to begin or further her education for a bachelor's degree at a 4 year college.

AAUW is an organization that promotes general education, the improvement of education at all levels, and the achievement of high standards and continued improvements of higher education to women. As an organization of women, we are aware of the difficulty that many women encounter in furthering their education after leaving school. Our branch is offering this scholarship to assist a woman in this goal.

Augustine D polished off its season with a satisfying 19-13 conquest of St. Augustine C.

Mike White paced the victors' assault with 7 points, and balancing the offense by netting 4 apiece were Pat O'Connor, Roger St. Amand and E.J. Perry.

Tacking on hustling floor games for the winners were John Ingemi, Mike Dufresne, Brian Busta and Danny McDuffie.

The C-team exited behind the sharpshooting of Jay DiIorio and Chris Bedell who fired through 6 points each. Jim Torrisi was limited to one second quarter free throw, but helped a strong defensive effort also keyed by Brian Bedell, Geoff Reichart, Rich Sambuco and Mark Paradis.

Rugged Finale

St. Augustine B capped its campaign with a three-game victory streak, nudging Ballard Vale United 24-18 in an evenly-matched battle.

The loss broke a five-game win skein for red-hot Ballard Vale, which lost a chance for a winning season and closed at 8-9 overall.

The game was tight all the way, but St. Augustine B managed 6-4, 10-8 and 13-10 leads at the first three checkpoints.

Paul Sirois hooped 9 points to propel the victors, while Tom Walsh stuffed 7, Bill Caselden dunked 6 and Brian Moriarty notched 2 markers.

Pitching in 100 percent performances for the B-team were Pete Walsh, Pat and Mike Beaudine, Chris Kelley and Jim Gioia.

Lefty Bob Heidt scorched the strings for a game-high 16 points to keep United within striking distance throughout. Carolyn Darling popped in 2 points and other top-notch games were played by Jay McLeod, Russ Bird, Robbie Robinson and Todd McLeod.

Fourth Straight

St. Robert's D joined Ballard Vale and St. Augustine B as fast-finishing quintets, bumping off St. Augustine E 33-29 to end with a four-game victory string.

St. Augustine E, losers of several tough decisions down the stretch, took a 10-8 first period lead before the winners erupted for a 10-2 second quarter advantage and an 18-12 halftime bulge.

Ben Bram stuffed 19 points to spearhead the St. Robert's D offense. Vinnie Keegan and Ted Liszewski, who led the pivotal second quarter surge, finished with 6 markers apiece and Frank Byrne banged home a brace of charity tosses in the fourth quarter.

Other hustling hoopsters were Richie Adams, Marty Melia and Jeff Lindquist.

Dave Robinson and Kevin O'Meara were the big guns for St. Augustine E, sharing team-high honors with 10 markers apiece. Kevin Donnelly dumped in 4 points, Tommy Galvin 3 and Tim Hart swished a third period bucket.

Also playing well for the E-team were Vito Caiati, Mike Gardner and Jim Driscoll.

Two Forfeits

Baptist wrapped up a successful campaign by taking a 2-0 forfeit win over South, while Free Church used the same method to gain a decision over St. Robert's B.

Baptist and South staged a spirited scrimmage anyway, with the former chalking up a 29-14 victory. Barry Bloom potted 11 points and Chris Rizzo 6 for Baptist, while 4 points apiece were contributed by Tom Stedman, Mark Palmer and Jim Handley.

Robbie Serbagi jammed through 6 points for South, while Steve Rathbun (Baptist) hit 4, Dave Oshan 2 and Schroeder (Baptist) had a floor connection.

Schedule

The division concluded all activities last night at West Junior High with the annual foul shooting contest, and the Awards Banquet is slated for Wednesday night, April 16 at West Junior High.

Scoring Race

John McNamara emerged as the division scoring champion for the second straight year, pouring through 253 points to easily outdistance runner-up Bob Heidt who closed with 201.

In all there were 19 players of the 166 in the division who scored 100 points or more.

McNamara's 113 field goals were tops in that department, while Ted Kelley converted 31 free throws to lead in that category.

A number of players netted 20 or more points in a single game, and the top solo effort was a late-season 27-point outburst by Steve Rathbun of Baptist.

Special Counsel Fired

The school committee Tuesday night terminated the services of Attorney Joseph Furnari on the William Becker case, placing the responsibility back on the shoulders of Committee Counsel James Murphy.

Murphy is to report back at the April 15 meeting on results of compromise talks, and whether or not he intends to proceed with a case now in Essex Superior Court.

Murphy had asked Furnari to handle the case involving Becker, demoted by the committee last spring as English Department head, when it went before the Labor Relations Board.

An arbitrator for that board a few weeks ago recommended that Becker be reinstated as department head, with full back pay.

The committee agreed then to reinstate Becker if he would waive any rights to tenure as department head.

Furnari and Becker's counsel have been working on a compromise, though a suit was filed for the school committee within the 30-day limit allowed for an appeal.

"We are already in court," Murphy said, in case a compromise couldn't be worked out.

Committeemen John Lyons and George Olesen, and Chairman Frank Griggs voted "yes" to relieve Furnari. Committeemen Elaine Viehmann and David Ahouse voted "present."

Murphy described Furnari as "that breed of lawyer who is capable and competent and works within the system."

"We are in court without vigor," Griggs said, when Murphy confirmed that the suit had been filed. "Maybe sometime we should be in court with vigor."

head, while keeping him on as teacher.

The committee Tuesday night also okayed a maternity leave of absence for Mrs. Allison Thomas, a Spanish teacher at East Junior High, from May 5 until the end of the current school year, and made two new appointments.

Norman Hyett of Brookline was unanimously approved to be director of the 1975 Title I "Deerjump" Program here.

Hyett, has been in private practice in psychology, and a counselor at Warren Junior High School, Newton, since 1969. He has also been a lecturer in education at Suffolk University, an English teacher in Arlington, Mass., and Pleasantville and Camden, N.J., high schools, a substitute teacher in Philadelphia ghetto schools, director of a summer migrant education program, and a camp counselor.

Hyett holds an A.B. degree from Rider College, Trenton, N.J., and an M.Ed. in psychology from Northeastern University. He has accumulated some 50 psychology credits beyond his master's from Rutgers, Harvard and Boston Universities.

Mrs. Ruth Trepanier of Andover was named a parttime learning disabilities instructional aide at Shawsheen School.

Mrs. Trepanier, who has taught grades two and three at St. Patrick's School, Lawrence, has a B.A. degree from Merrimack College. She has recently taken the Andover L.D. linguistics course.

a capable Town Counsel."

He also said it was unfair to say that one lawyer should presume to advise the town manager, the selectmen and the school committee, on their individual duties, when, he said, "there may well be differences of opinion among them."

He added that he hoped to have his projects for the school committee in line by the middle of May, "and then will move on."

In setting the stage for his letter, Griggs said that while he doesn't personally believe the school committee should have fiscal autonomy, it does. The Town Meeting action, he said, has serious implications for the school committeemen in trying to carry out their jobs.
